Consumption of the overgrown back arc basin is thought to have began in the Permian. However, evidence for a regional geological setting and tectonic history was conducted in the north by (Cockfield, 1948) at ~1:250,000-scale. Within and adjacent to the map area, detailed mapping...